Americans paid the lowest level of taxes since the 1950s this year. According to the Bureau of Economic Analysis, state, local and federal taxes were 9.2% of personal income. The average rate over the last 50 years is 12%.